

The 6th Middle East Forex Trading Expo & Conference 2010

20 - 21 of May 2010

Habtoor Grand Hotel - Beirut, Lebanon

The 6th Middle East Forex Trading Expo & Conference 2010 to be held in Beirut, Lebanon

Dubai, UAE: Following previous successful Forex Trading events in Dubai and in response to market demand, Arabcom Group has announced the sixth event in the series. The 6th Middle East Forex Trading Expo & Conference under the theme "Trade with Confidence" will take place at Habtoor Grand Hotel, Beirut, Lebanon on 20-21 May, 2010.

Arabcom Group's achievements of Forex Trading events have quickly become established as the leading exhibition and conference in the Middle East region on the subject. Previous events in the series have attracted a global audience and have provided a platform for leaders in the field to share their expertise and experience on the most important topics related to online trading.

"Now entering our sixth edition, the Middle East Forex Trading Expo & Conference 2010 to be held in Beirut, Lebanon guarantees our potential and returning participants unparalleled access to both individual, institutional investors and decision-makers in high growth but hard-to-penetrate markets." said Katia Tayar, Founder & President of Arabcom Group.

"With Lebanon's new government initiatives of facilitating business development in the country coupled with its existing status as a free market economy, participants will have the upper hand in identifying potential clients and finding new customers to increase their investment portfolio" she added.

The Middle East Forex Trading Expo & Conference is the only industry event in the region geared specifically for forex traders and brings a network of international exhibitors and sponsors to educate novice and seasoned traders in the Arab world. Over 1,000 attendees were stimulated by the keynote presentations and exhibition conducted by industry experts at the 5th Middle East Forex Trading Expo & Conference 2009 held in Jumeirah Emirates Towers Hotel, Dubai.

Jean Louis Farwagi, Vice President of Arabcom Group said: "Lebanon is one of the highly preferred locations for Arabs and expats to do business because it is very open to trade and foreign investment. Its strategic location between Europe, Africa and the rest of the GCC markets make it an ideal hub for commerce and tourism. That is why it makes perfect sense to hold the sixth Middle East Forex Expo there.

In addition, Lebanese are born traders since ancient times and the event provides a unique opportunity for them to further develop their online trading skills and learn more about its risks, benefits and rewards. There is a large untapped market in Lebanon and the neighboring countries, which offers the potential to boost the investment portfolios and profitability of forex trading companies."

The 6th Middle East Forex Trading Expo & Conference 2010 is one of its kind and promises to fulfill the needs and wants of everyone interested to understand the secrets of investing money in the right place and seek out new opportunities for smart investments.
